EDUCATE. INSPIRE. LAUNCH.

Class of 2021 and Parents/Guardians,

It is hard to believe that there are only four weeks remaining in the semester. There are still a great many unknowns as it pertains to college admission, and your College Counselors sympathize with you over the lack of clarity about what the Fall holds for us. And as much as you know that we have your best interests at heart, it's helpful to always hear directly from the experts - in this case, the college admissions professionals who work at the colleges and universities to which you will soon be applying. You are not the only ones seeking constancy amidst all of this change, and the colleges are well aware of many of the issues that you are dealing with, and they know what questions you should be asking and how you should communicate with them.

For guidance from the College Counselors, please see this Junior COVID-19 FAQ. If you have not yet scheduled your individual meeting with your College Counselor, please do so as soon as possible. By tomorrow (April 30), each Junior is supposed to have emailed at least one teacher with a request for a letter of recommendation, and instructions were included in the last newsletter on April 8. Also, parents and guardians have been invited to add their insights about their student through the "Parent Reflection", which can be accessed through the parent's SCOIR account. If you have trouble locating the survey, please contact your student's College Counselor.

As always, we remain eager to assist you in this process. On April 28, we would have had our final X-period of the year. We would have discussed essay-writing and concluded with a senior panel, at which members of the Class of 2020 would have answered your questions and shared the wisdom that they had gained through the college application process.

Students who are interested in connecting with George Washington University will have an opportunity to attend a Zoom meeting hosted by our admissions representative, Andrea Frangi, on Wednesday, May 13, at 11 a.m. If you are interested in attending, please RSVP using this Google form. This event is for SI students only. For other opportunities to connect with colleges, please consult the Junior COVID-19 FAQ.

We will be in touch before the conclusion of the semester. In the meantime, we wish all of you a healthy, peaceful, and productive final month of school.

Sincerely,
Your SI College Counselors
